Election of New Pastoral Councils

New Pastoral Councils are being elected throughout the diocese over the coming weeks. We thank the current Pastoral Council, which has served eighteen months longer than expected because of the pandemic. The parish of Kilsherdany and Drung has been divided into seven different groupings of townlands and we will be electing one man and one woman from each of these areas. All parishioners who are sixteen years of age or over are asked to please vote for two people in their area. Voting slips will be distributed to houses and will be available in the churches. You are asked to please return your voting slip to the ballot box in each of the churches before 8th April.
